As one of our email subscribers we don't want you to miss out on important news from Military Review. "Military Review Email Announcements" let you know when our most current editions are posted online, when a writing contest is open, when important special editions are published and much more.

Who is our email announcement provider?

Our email service is provided by FeedBurner. FeedBurner is a RSS feed management provider launched in 2004 and acquired by Google in 2007.

When did Military Review begin using Google for email announcements?

March 13, 2009

Who is sending me this email?

This email is created by Military Review but sent to you by Google. You will notice that sender information in the email is not sent directly from Military Review but via a proxy sender. You will receive the email from Google. Sender information will read as follows:

noreply+feedproxy@google.com; on behalf of; Military Review Announcements [leav-milrevweb@conus.army.mil]

Why do I get a verification email with a link when I subscribe for the first time?

This email is to verify a valid email address has been submitted and to activate your subscription. Google will activate your subscription to our email announcements once you respond to this verification message by clicking on the link provided. If you are having trouble with the link or need additional assistance please send an email to us at our email address usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil - ["Sample Verification Email from Google"].

Can I reply to email announcements?

No, this is a post-only mailing. Replies to this message are not monitored or answered. If you would like to send an email to Military Review it should be sent to our public email address: usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil.

How do I unsubscribe from Military Review email announcements?

- You can unsubscribe by sending an email to usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil.
- You can also stop receiving these emails by clicking on the "unsubscribe now" link in the email you received.

Reader Information

- You can unsubscribe via postal mail, write to: Military Review, 290 Stimson Avenue, Unit 2, Fort Leavenworth, KS 66027-1293
- You can unsubscribe via postal mail, write to: Military Review Announcements, c/o Google, 20 W Kinzie, Chicago IL USA 60610.

The links in the announcement don't work? What is the problem?

It is possible that you are subscribed to our email service with an AKO email account. AKO will block hyperlinks to protect users from going to a malicious site. For example: <http://www.google.com> would become blockedhttp://www.google.com. You may want to subscribe to our email service using a non-AKO email address or follow the instructions below.

How do I access blocked hyperlinks?

For hyperlinks that you want to view but have received as blocked hyperlinks you will have to copy and paste the URL into the address bar of Internet Explorer then delete the word blocked at the beginning of the URL then click on the go button.

How is XML technology used to create email announcements by Military Review?

Our announcements are created in a simple XML document, more commonly known as an RSS Feed. XML technology makes it possible for you to view our announcements using an RSS Feed Reader.

Do I have to subscribe using email or can I subscribe using an RSS Feed Reader?

Because our announcements are created using XML technology and Google is helping to promote our RSS Feed you can subscribe via email, via RSS Feed Reader or both.

What does FeedBurner do?

FeedBurner is a service provided by Google which makes it possible to publish an XML document as an email. FeedBurner also helps us to promote our RSS Feed in different ways so that more readers can more easily subscribe to our announcements.

XML technology gives you control over what RSS feeds you want to subscribe to and makes it easy to subscribe and unsubscribe to the feed. This XML document is then transformed by Google to create the email that is sent to your inbox.

Is your Inbox too full?

Subscribe to the RSS feed version of Military Review Announcements in a feed reader and remove clutter from your inbox by putting news where it should be. Click

Can I subscribe to receive announcements with an RSS Feed Reader?

Absolutely, our announcements are published using XML technology and therefore you can subscribe to receive our announcements using your favorite RSS Feed Reader.

Why are RSS Feeds a good thing? RSS Feeds 101

Technology evolution in online publishing has made it really easy to not only publish regular updates to web-based content, but also keep track of a large number of your favorite websites or blogs, without having to remember to check each site manually or clutter your email inbox. You can now streamline your online experience by subscribing to specific content feeds and aggregating this information in one place to be read when you're ready.

Consumer Bottom Line: Subscribing to feeds makes it possible to review a large amount of online content in a very short time.

Hard Copy Subscriptions

Subscribe to receive hard copies delivered to your mailbox.

There are three types of hard-copy subscriptions to Military Review as follows:

1. Official subscriptions.

These are subscriptions for U.S. government agencies provided at government expense. Examples of agencies to which official subscriptions are authorized include U.S. military headquarters or units; Congressional offices; offices of other executive branch departments or agencies involved in national security; government-funded libraries; and U.S. embassies. Requests for official subscription may be forwarded to Military Review at the following e-mail address:

usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil

Written requests may be forwarded under appropriate official letterhead to the following address:

U.S. Army, Combined Arms Center
Leader Development & Education
Military Review
290 Stimson Avenue, Unit 2
Fort Leavenworth, Kansas 66027-1293

Requests for official subscriptions should include a brief justification as to why the organization desires a subscription and the number of personnel that are assigned to the office. In the case of a military headquarters or unit, the request should also include how many uniformed military officers and enlisted members the organization has. These justifications and personnel figures are used in a distribution formula to determine how many copies of Military Review may be sent.

Questions may be referred to the offices of Military Review at the following phone number: (913) 684-9327 or DSN 552-9327.

2. Private subscriptions for domestic U.S. locations.

The office of Military Review at Fort Leavenworth does not manage private subscriptions for the publication. As an official publication of the U.S. government, Military Review's subscriptions are managed by the Government Printing Office (GPO). Consequently, requests for private subscriptions must be submitted to the GPO. For more information regarding costs and subscription procedures, inquiries may be sent in writing to the following address:

Reader Information

Superintendent of Documents
P.O. Box 371954
Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954

Additionally, private subscriptions can be procured via the GPO website, at http://bookstore.gpo.gov/collections/military_journals.jsp. Page down to "Military Review, The Professional Journal of the United States Army," hit "Add to Cart," and proceed to "Checkout."

You can also contact GPO by phone at: 202-512-1800 or by fax at: 202-512-2104.

3. Private subscriptions to foreign addresses.

The instructions for obtaining a private subscription for a foreign address are virtually identical to those outlined in 2 above. If you are ordering from the GPO website, however, you must enter "Outside the U.S." in the box marked "I am located—" on the "Shopping Cart" page (which appears after you select "Add to Cart"). There is a modest difference in cost (the current cost of a foreign subscription is $58.50), which will become apparent when you enter "Outside the U.S."

Change of Address for Hard Copy Subscriptions

Individuals who subscribe through the Superintendent of Documents should send subscription address changes, with mailing label, to Superintendent of Documents, US GPO, Washington, DC 20402, or fax change and copy of mailing label to (202) 512-2168. Additional information can be found on the GPO website.

Those on Military Review's official; distribution list should send their address changes to the Military Review office at the following address:
