

Announcing the 2016 General William E. DePuy

Special Topics Writing Competition

In keeping with the renewed emphasis on education brought on by the advent of the Army University, the 2016 General William E. DePuy Special Topics Writing Competition announces the following topic for prospective essays:

Theme: Educating the Force: What is the Right Balance between Training and Education?

Suggested topics include, but are not limited to:

- Do soldiers really need higher education? If so, to what level?
- Are the Army's professional military education (PME) programs teaching the right objectives; and, if so, are graduates applying them? How should it ensure PME reflects the force's needs?
- How should the Army measure the effects of Army education on the conduct of Army operations? What metrics should it use?
- How should the Army measure the effects of Army education on soldiers' careers?
- How well is the Army taking advantage of any educational opportunities it provides soldiers?
- How well are the civilian study programs the Army pays for benefitting the force or the careers of soldiers? What fields of study does the Army need most?
- • How should the Army change the way it uses the expertise soldiers gain through civilian study?

How do I enter?

- Submit an unclassified, original research paper examining any aspect—broad or specific—of this theme. Papers should be approx. 3,000 words in length, not counting endnotes.
- Previously published papers, or papers pending consideration elsewhere for publication, are ineligible.
- Papers submitted to other competitions still pending announced decisions are also ineligible. (As an exception to this rule, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College students submitting papers to the General Douglas MacArthur Military Leadership Writing Competition may submit the same paper to the DePuy Competition. Thus, it is possible to recognize a single paper for both competitions).
- Contestants are expected to conduct in-depth research to support their papers to include consulting current doctrine, proponent organizations, and subject matter experts. However, unpublished original research based on primary as opposed to secondary source material is preferred.

What do winning writers receive?

- First Place: Award of $1,000 / Certificate of recognition / Publication as a featured essay in Military Review, the Professional Journal of the United States Army.
- Second Place: Award of $750 / Certificate of recognition / Special consideration for publication in Military Review.
- Third Place: Award of $500 / Certificate of recognition / Special consideration for publication in Military Review.
- Not all prizes will necessarily be awarded; only superior quality products will warrant award.

How do you submit a paper?

- Complete an enrollment form (see enclosure 2) and submit it together with the proposed manuscript via e-mail or in hard copy with a CD to Military Review by Monday, 11 July 2016. Email: usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil Mail: Military Review, 290 Stimson, Unit 2, Fort Leavenworth, KS 66027.
- The essay will use endnote citations and not bibliographic references. Essays will not use the automatic endnote citation feature of software. Instead, endnotes will be hand typed in numerical order as referenced in the essay and listed at the end of the submitted document.

How will the papers be evaluated and judged?

- All entries should be submitted using the sample format found at the following link: <http://usacac.army.mil/CAC2/MilitaryReview/resources/assets/SampleManuscript.pdf>
- Military Review will recommend to the CAC Commander a panel of distinguished judges to evaluate the entries.
- General criteria to be used for evaluating papers are attached (see enclosure 1).

If you have questions contact:

- Editor in Chief of Military Review, at (913) 684-9331 or DSN 552-9331; or via email usarmy.leavenworth.tradoc.mbx.military-review-public-em@mail.mil.

ENCLOSURE 1 (Criteria for Judging)

Evaluation is unavoidably a subjective process; however, our panelists will use the questions below to help them evaluate essays more objectively.

- Does the essay show evidence of significant research using accepted academic standards? Is the research mainly from primary sources?
- Is the author's research backed up by careful endnotes?
- Does the essay contribute anything new to the body of professional knowledge on the selected topic?
- Does the essay offer well-thought-out and well-researched opinions about the how the Army can find innovative solutions to face future challenges and threats during this time of work force reductions and budget cuts?
- Does the essay offer plausible solutions to or recommendations about the problem or issue?
- Does the essay fairly represent the background facts and provide a credible examination of the issue?
- Is the essay organized? Does it move logically from a clear thesis through a well-developed argument using supporting evidence to yield persuasive conclusions?
- Is the essay written in an accessible style, or does it give the impression that it has been written to impress rather inform and persuade?
- Does the essay avoid excessive acronyms or jargon?
