

Mike Gradoz
Chief Knowledge Officer
U.S. Army Fires Center of Excellence

Served on active duty with the U.S. Army Field Artillery from, 1982 to 2004, performed various jobs in the information management field across many organizations and assignments. He performed numerous staff assignments at Battalion and DivArty; and served one year in Haiti on an International Police Monitors Joint/Multinational staff.

Since his retirement, he has served as an Army Civilian within the Fires Center of excellence CIO/CKO/G6 as the Chief Knowledge Officer (CKO) for the Fires Center of Excellence (FCoE), Fort Sill OK. Works directly under the supervision of the Fires Center CIO/G6; Responsible for developing policies, plans, strategies, and the development and execution of all requirements used for the creation, capture and sharing of the Fire Support corporate knowledgebase.