

Jeffery (Jeff) Oxendine

Computer Sciences Corporation

Tomoye ECCO Platform Senior Chief Administrator
Army's Battle Command Knowledge Management System

Jeff Oxendine is a retired Military Intelligence Officer with over 20 years of experience. He is currently serving as the Tomoye ECCO Platform Senior Chief Administrator, Forums Development and Support Team Lead and facilitator of COIN Operations (Counterinsurgency Operations) professional forum hosted by Battle Command Knowledge System (BCKS).

Jeff has been a member of the BCKS team for over four years assisting in the development of a multitude of Knowledge Management and Professional Forum Facilitation publications to include; Battle Command Knowledge System, Knowledge Management Program Standard Operating Procedures (SOP), "Initiating, Building, and Maintaining a Professional Forum" SOP, Forum Facilitator Guide and Professional Forums Startup Guide. Additionally, he developed several Tomoye ECCO platform training courses to include; Tomoye ECCO Introduction Course, Tomoye ECCO Topic Leader Course and Tomoye ECCO on Boarding.

Jeff is a Knowledge Management Senior Professional, Certified Knowledge Manager and Certified Knowledge Environment Engineer.