

LTC Andrew Mortensen

USAREUR Chief Knowledge Management Operation Officer

LTC Andrew Mortensen is the Chief KMO officer for United States Army Europe.

Commissioned in 1990 as an Armor officer, he served as a platoon leader, Battle Maintenance Officer, and Company Executive Officer in the 4th Infantry Division. He commanded a Heavy Armor company in the 1st Cavalry Division. After completing a one year tour in Korea he was assigned to TRADOC Program Integration Officer for Battle Command (TPIO-BC). While with TPIO-BC, he developed staff integration training for Battle Command systems and spent time in Iraq collecting data on BC systems for and contributed to the book "On Point."

In 2005, he was assessed to Functional Area 57 Battle Command and Simulation Operation, and then assigned to V Corps KMO office which deployed to Iraq in 2006. While in Iraq he helped to establish the first MNC-I KMO office as a Special Staff section under the Chief of Staff. Upon return from OIF he was placed in the V Corps Chief KMO position. He was handpicked to establish the first KMO office for the United States Army Europe where he currently serves as the Chief KMO.

He attended the Army's Jump, Motor Officer, and NBC Officer schools, and is a graduate of the Armor Officer Advanced Course and the Command and General Staff College.
