CARL

The Combined Arms Research Library is here to help you discover all the information and entertainment you are looking for.

The CARL's collection specializes in all aspects of military art and science: joint and combined operations; tactics and doctrinal development; leadership, intelligence, weapons, equipment, and training.

The Library is also an inviting place for children and their families to explore our collections of popular fiction, children's books, audio-books and DVDs, as well as eBooks and eAudiobooks to download to your electronic reader/audio devices. Don't miss the popular Children's Summer Reading program each year from June through August.

Over the years, the library has grown with its users and today serves a community diverse in interests, needs, and age and will strive to continue to do so. The Combined Arms Research Library is the largest and most respected library in the Army.

The Archives and Documents Departments located on the 3rd floor of the CARL closed December 2009 in preparation for renovations to improve the climate control system.

We expect the renovations to last until spring 2011. Faculty, students, and researchers should be aware that third floor materials will not be available during that time.

Archives and Documents reference staff will be on the 1st floor to provide basic reference and assist in finding sources available online or at other institutions.
