

October 8, 2009

MEDIA ADVISORY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Fort Leavenworth, KS -- The U.S. Army Combined Arms Center (CAC) and the Battle Command Knowledge System (BCKS) at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas are hosting the 5th Annual Army Operational Knowledge Management (AOKM) Conference, Oct 19-23 at the Kansas City Airport Marriott Hotel.

The conference is for military KM professionals and KM experts in the private sector to share and exchange the latest KM industry information and military KM best practices, processes and lessons learned.

Speakers include:

- GEN Martin E. Dempsey – Commanding General, Training and Doctrine Command (taped)
- LTG P.K. (Ken) Keen – Military Deputy Commander, US Southern Command (USSOUTHCOM)
- LTG (Ret) James Dubik – Senior Fellow, Institute for the Study of War; former commander, Multi National Security Transition Command-Iraq (MNSTC-I), and Commanding General, I Corps & Ft. Lewis
- Mr. Dale Ormond – (SES) Deputy to the Commanding General, US Army Combined Arms Center (CAC)
- Mr. Frank Anderson Jr. – (SES) President, Defense Acquisition University, Office of the Undersecretary of Defense
- BG Edward Cardon – Deputy Commandant, Command and General Staff College, Deputy Commanding General, CAC
- BG Allen Batschelet – Deputy Chief of Staff-G3, United States Army Europe (USAREUR)
- Dr. Mark Nissen – C2 Chair and Director of Center for Edge Power, Naval Postgraduate School
- Dr. Nancy Dixon – President, Common Knowledge
- Mr. Jack Holt – Senior Strategist for Emerging Media, Department of Defense

The event is unclassified and open to the public and media.

View more details about the 2009 AOKM Conference at the conference Web site:
<http://usacac.army.mil/cac2/BCKS/aokm2009/index.asp>

Media should contact Bill Ackerly, BCKS Strategic Communications Manager (contractor) at (913) 684-6383 or bill.ackerly@us.army.mil .