

Military-Media Issues

An electronic publication of

The William Allen White School of Journalism & Mass Communications

In partnership with

The U.S. Army Command and General Staff College

Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Funded by a grant from

The McCormick Foundation

Editors:

Thomas W. Volek, William Allen White School of Journalism & Mass Communications

James H. Thomas, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College Liaison

The William Allen White School of Journalism and Mass Communications of the University of Kansas in partnership with the Command and General Staff College proudly announces the inaugural issue of the electronic web based journal Military-Media Issues.

Military-Media Issues seeks to help bridge the gap between journalists and the military through a better understanding of roles, cultures, and function by publication of relevant manuscripts from each side.

Submitting authors should describe their experience with the military/media, what went well, what could have gone better, and offer suggestions to improve media-military relations in the future.

Authors may submit more than one article. Each submission should be no more than 2000 words, in Microsoft Word compatible format. Please include Military-Media Issues in the subject line of your submission e-mail.

Please submit your article to either co-editor. Articles for the next edition should be received no later than 30 March 2009.

Send Submissions to:

Dr. Tom Volek, twvolek@ku.edu or

Mr. Jim Thomas, james.h.thomas@us.army.mil

The first edition of Military-Media Issues will be on the web in March 2009.