

Welcome to AMSC DL Courses!

Welcome to Army Management Staff College Distributed Learning Courses! AMSC offers some mandatory leader development courses, prerequisite DL required for resident CES course attendance, and self-development courses. DL affords you the convenience of completing courses - through the Army Learning Management System or Blackboard - around your regular work schedule without leaving your home station. Click on the “Courses” tab to find out more details.

AMSC DL courses work due to the coordination and cooperation of several organizations. If something technical goes wrong, we have to allow the technicians to fix it. Policy is decided by higher headquarters, such as completion times and the “no extensions” rule. If you have any problems at all, please contact the Army Training Help Desk (ATHD) first. They are available 24/7, which allows them to provide service world-wide. If they can’t help you, they will direct you to the office/person who can. Please be patient.

There are no extensions to the time limitations for a course. As soon as you register for a course, the time period begins. So make sure you register when you know you’ll have time to work on your course. After you register, plan backwards from your completion date to the present to ensure you complete the right amount of the course each week. Plan out your milestones, stay with your plan, and you will be successful and finish on time. You should take responsibility for your online learning just like you would with a college course.

Again, if you have any problems with an AMSC DL course, please contact the Army Training Help Desk (ATHD) at 1-757-878-4745 (DSN 826-4745) or athd@mailds01.csd.disa.mil
