World War II Combat Interviews (Armed Forces Oral Histories). [E002676 1989]

This collection of 375 combat interviews focuses on particular engagements, with supplementary field orders, periodic reports, overlays, maps and statistical data. The interviews were performed as close to the time and place of the action as possible without the benefit of recording equipment and consisted of shorthand or longhand summaries for later transcription. There was little consistency in the questions asked and all of the major participants were not necessarily interviewed. The interviews are arranged by unit and date. An index by name, locale and military operation is also included, along with a chronological list and an index by American Military Unit. [573 fiche]
